Safety at the Largest Private Development in American History

This presentation will provide attendees with an overview of what is being built at Hudson Yards in New York and how the safety program is taking shape and constantly developing. The largest private development in the history of the United States is taking shape over 28-acres and when complete will provide a mixed use space consisting of commercial office space, retail shops and restaurants, hotels, residential space, a K-8 grade school, and exhibition center of 17 million square feet. Come learn about the next mega-project happening in NYC and take a walk on the High-Line to see progress.

ABOUT THE SPEAKER:

Joe Schwed is Vice President, Construction Safety at Related. He is part of a team overseeing construction safety at the Hudson Yards project in mid-town Manhattan, NY. When completed this will be a 28-acre site with over 17 million square feet of commercial and residential space. Joe has over 20 years of experience and was previously the Port Authority of NY & NJ World Trade Center Site Safety Director focusing on safety at mega-projects implementing safety and health management systems. He currently is an adjunct professor at Columbia University and Stevens Institute of Technology.

An ASSE professional member for over 20 years, he was President of the NJ Chapter and served as Area Director for the Metropolitan Area overseeing the operation of two NJ Chapters and two NY Chapters. He received the ASSE's NJ Chapter and Region 8 Safety Professional of the Year awards.

Joe holds a BS in mechanical engineering, an MS in occupational safety and health engineering and an MS in environmental science from the New Jersey Institute of Technology. He is a Board Certified Safety Professional (CSP), an authorized trainer for OSHA 10-hour and 30-hour courses in the Construction Safety and Health field and NYC DOB Licensed Site Safety Manager.
