In their safe, controlled throwing pit, customers take turns hurling their hatchet to the target, honing in on their form and technique. After several trials, most find this activity to be addicting. When not throwing, friends gather in the common area at large farm tables and comfy couches. While you are welcome to order food in, snacks, beverages and ice are available for purchase. Owners Mark and Trish Oliphant and Stuart and Kelly Josberger wanted their venue to provide more than just hatchet throwing. Stumpy's is more than that — it's a place where friends get together to create memories by doing something slightly out of their comfort zone in a beautiful rustic environment. Whether it's a business meeting/corporate outing or a bachelor, bachelorette, birthday, or team building event, Stumpy's hits the bullseye! Our staff is ready to assist you to make your event a success with catering packages to meet your needs and compliment your party theme.
