The Art and Science of Technology in Safety and Injury Prevention

Join us for our 1st meeting of 2021 from the comfort of your workstation. January 19, 2021 12 Noon – 1:15 pm

Meet Kyle Kutsup, MBA, ATC, Northeast Regional Sales Executive for Fit For Work's Business Development Department as he kicks off 2021 for us with his presentation on "The Art and Science of Technology in Safety and Injury Prevention". Working with wearable technology, Kyle will walk us through how this can lessen our ergonomic injuries, without trade-offs to production

Kyle's previous professional experience includes working as an Athletic Trainer for Saint Peter's Prep in Jersey City, NJ and Sacred Heart University in CT. Kyle attended Penn State University where he obtained his BA in Kinesiology. He went on to continue his education at Sacred Heart University, earning his MBA in 2012.

With over 10 years of experience in injury prevention, Kyle has a passion for helping others stay healthy and performing their best. In his new business development role, he has the opportunity to spread the word about Fit For Work's amazing services that have historically helped their clients reduce their injuries and improve employee performance.
